

THE SWEDISH INSTITUTE VISBY PROGRAM LEADERSHIP SEMINAR

LEADING EDUCATIONAL ORGANIZATIONS: PAST LESSONS AND FUTURE TRENDS

What are important issues and challenges for leadership in university organizations and other higher-level learning institutes?

Welcome to a leadership seminar – aimed at young researchers and leaders from Belarus, Russia and Ukraine within departments of business, economic and management. If you are interested in leadership issues and have some leadership experience in academic organizations, you are most welcome to apply for a one day seminar in St Petersburg, Russia, on October 12th. The seminar is arranged by the Swedish Institute (www.si.se) and will take place at Stockholm School of Economics Russia (www.sseru.org) on Shwedskiy Pereulok 2.

The seminar will be performed as a workshop with active participation, regarding general leadership issues and have some leadership experience in academic organizations. The key issue to explore is what kind of leadership strategies or competences might be needed in successful organizations that aspire to educate the students of tomorrow. A reception at the Consulate General in St Petersburg will conclude the day.

Please announce your interest in participating by registering your application here: LINK. Participation is free of charge. If needed, the cost for accommodation (2 nights) will be covered, and travel grants may be applied for.

The deadline for applications is September 15, 2010. Admission decisions will be sent from the Swedish Institute around 20 September 2010.

If you have specific questions, please e-mail Camilla Wristel, coordinator of the Visby program at the Swedish Institute, at camilla.wristel@si.se.
